A research note provides data that meets one or more of the following criteria:

- A single experiment
- Low sample size
- Limited replication

What is a research note?
A short paper that reports the results of a complete experiment but is much less comprehensive than a full-length article.

Rules of research notes:

- Title must begin with “Research Note”
- No more than 3,000 words (~9 pages double-spaced)
- Maximum of 2 tables or figures. OR one of each.
- Maximum of 10 references

The Submission Process:

- The same formatting applies to research notes as does the rest of PSA’s journals.
- Authors must indicate the section the research note is to be reviewed under.
- Editors may suggest that full-length papers need to be revised to research note format.
